(57) Abstract :

ABSTRACT: Title: Spatial Decision Making System for Operationalization of Constituency Management and Method Thereof The present disclosure proposes a system to support the political leadership in decision making. It has the provisions to connect the political leadership with the citizens of the constituency. The operationalization of constituency management system 100 comprises an input module 102, a centralized information storing and processing module 104, a real time processing module 106, a decision making module 108, and an output module 110. The decision making is made with the help of constituency management system by blending political expediency, economic rationality, scientific inputs and spatial parameters. It empowers the elected representative in many ways. In addition, it also ensures active participation and contributions of citizens in governance and development. As the decision on various routine and constituency related issues taken with the help of ICT-supported system, the elected representative would be able to focus more on her/his primary legislative functions.
